

Railway Office, Jabalpur
4th April 1962

Respected Amma,

I have joined the Railway Office here on Monday, 2nd April, as a Junior Clerk in the accounts section. My salary will be Rs 180 every month, and from the first salary I will send you a new shawl.

The Head Clerk, Shri Verma, is strict but kind. He checked my handwriting and said it is the neatest in the office. I thought of Master Tiwari from our school in Sagar, who made us copy whole pages until our letters stood straight. That old school punishment has finally paid me a salary!

I am staying with Ramesh in a rented room near the station. Do not worry about food, his mother feeds us both.

Your obedient son,
Mohan
