Respected Amma,

Your granddaughter has arrived! She was born on Wednesday the 14th, just before sunset, at the railway hospital. Kamla is well and resting, and the baby is small but very loud.

We have named her Meera, as you wished. Arun keeps asking when she will be able to play cricket.

There is more news. Our whole office is being transferred to Bombay next month. I will go first with the office, and Kamla and the children will follow when the quarter is ready.

Your son,
Mohan
